ESSENCE MAGAZINE COLUMNIST AND AUTHOR
TO APPEAR AT CAREER AWARENESS CONFERENCE

News Release

DAYTON, Ohio, February 19, 1988--Beatryce Nivens, author of The Black Woman's Career Guide and the "Work It Out" career column in Essence magazine, will speak on "Careers Beyond the Classroom" as the keynote speaker at a Career Awareness Conference in the Kennedy Union Ballroom at the University of Dayton on Saturday, Feb. 27.

Nivens' half-hour talk begins at 12:45 p.m. She will also conduct an afternoon workshop on "Interpersonal Relationships."

"Careers Unlimited" is the theme of the day-long conference, which features round-table discussions with more than a dozen professionals, a luncheon fashion show, a job fair and workshops. The conference attracted more than 100 students last year and caps off a series of Black History Month activities at UD. It is open to the public, though reservations for the luncheon must be made by Feb. 23 by calling 229-3634. The luncheon cost is $6.50 for adults and $3 for students.

"Through the conference, we're merging contemporary and future black professionals," said Debra Moore, director of UD's Office of Minority Student Affairs. "Professionals will share their accomplishments as well as the pitfalls, allowing students to ask questions that go beyond the textbook."

The day begins at 10 a.m. with a welcoming address from Elaine French, president of Black Action Through Unity.

From 10:30 a.m. until noon, Dayton-area professionals will share their career experiences through an informal round-table discussion. Scheduled to attend are:

- Donna Willis, associate director of the internal medicine residency program at Kettering Medical Center;
- Jim Johnson, station manager of WDAO Radio;
